

77 The October meeting of the Cornish Planning Board was held at the town hall with two of the selectmen in attendance.

John Harmon was present to present a tentative plan for a sandramat in the building that now houses his oil business on lower main street. The board verbally expressed approval of the present sketch.

There was discussion about the W.B. Tripp oil business concerning a proposal by the owner to move oil tanks to the business location on upper main street. Concern was expressed as to the desirability and safety of establishing a tank farm on main street. Several board members agreed to discuss the issue with residents surrounding the business.

The board agreed on a new building permit and site location which was approved by

Dr. Sibbass and Robert Pike.
