No one from the public present.

Marilyn told the Board that Barbara Conover called about how she could offer her building currently housing a toy store. She is closing the toy store and would like to advertise it for rent. It was determined that the toy store is a non-conforming use and a change of use would need to follow the guidelines in the Town ordinance.

Larry Blanchette called asking for a junkyard permit. He will be informed that the Cornish Zoning Ordinance does not provide for a junkyard in any of the town zones.

Anmarie Silva called asking if she could install exercise machines in the back of the building where she currently operates a beauty parlor. People would come in independently and use the machines. As the building housing her beauty parlor is in a business/commercial zone and people using downtown businesses park next to the street and next to the park on a space-available basis, the Planning Board feels that she should be allowed to install the machines.

As there was no other immediate business to come before the Board and members wanted to attend a meeting being held at another location in Town, the Board ajourned at 7:35pm.

Sincerely,

Walter Stickney, Secretary
